What the “Big Wigs” said . . .

- Robert Marzano – Proposed having 1/3 of the standards (Classroom Instruction That Works)
- Dylan Wiliam – would not endorse CCSS because there were too many standards (Inside the Black Box)
- Mike Schmoker – Recommended half of the number of standards (Focus NOW)

What is our Goal?

Are we providing the highest level of learning for our students?

THE GOVERNOR JOHN ENGLER

Time

- We plan as if there are 365 days of instruction.
- There are only 180 days of instruction.
- But are there really?

Prioritizing Standards

DO THIS
NOT THAT

Priority Standards

A priority standard is one that

- provides students with knowledge and skills that will endure throughout life (endurance),
- will be valuable in multiple disciplines (leverage),
- and provide success in the next level of instruction (readiness).

Additional Considerations

A high jumper in mid-air, performing a Fosbury Flop over a bar. The athlete is wearing a blue singlet and a purple bib. The pole is red and white. The background is dark and blurred.

- External Assessments - State/College Test Correlations
- K-12 Alignment
- Needs of Student Population

“Unwrapping” the Standards – WHY?

- “Unwrapping” provides clarity, specificity, and explicit levels of rigor
- Careful analysis of a standard helps determine exactly what the standard means and identifies student learning outcomes
- Standards can be prioritized by complexity and level of rigor using a thinking skills hierarchy such as Bloom’s Taxonomy or Depth of Knowledge

“Unwrapping” the Standards – HOW?

- Circle verbs that represent what students are to do.
- Underline nouns or noun phrases that represent teachable concepts.
